Hi [REDACTED],

How is your summer?

How is modeling going?

Have you been to more of Nouriel's parties?

Hey, I have an invitation for you. I'm sorry that this is mostly a copy and paste I'm sending to a few friends, and not more personalized to you, but I think that the odds of you taking me up on it are too low to do more- you're too much in demand

Anyway, I have a spot in the female room for an amazing 4 day sail along the CT and RI coast this coming Friday- you can join my band of merry men and me. The invite is below.

When life was the busiest this was the kind of thing that I dreamed of doing- an easy summer cruise with my boys, where the days just blend together and we see America in a way we had never before.

The attendees are my friends Paul Torres, Kevin Davis, Luke Rasiej, and probably Tony Smyth and John Stone and some others. You can stay in a room on the boat with another female friend of mine.

Here's the invite that I'm sending to people:

"Hey, I have an interesting invitation for you. Join a few friends and me for long sailing trip from Fri. 8/30 (before dawn) to about 2 PM on Monday Sept. 2. We'll travel the coast of CT/RI to towns like Mystic, Newport, Block Island, and maybe a coastal city in CT or old sleepy whaling town etc. I'm still researching places/ docking but will know soon what actual stops we'd make.

You could either sleep on the boat or in a hotel. We'd probably sail from about dawn until late afternoon each day; tired from a long day of piracy of merchant ships and laying siege to harbors. OK, the part after the ";" is not true :)"

Should I count you in for this adventure?

Sincerely,

Gregory Hold
