It is to show [REDACTED] revenue. It needs to be a significant amount, larger than just enough to support one person, 100 is actually not a lot if I am trying to make that point. Part of it will be considered my salary from [REDACTED] and transferred into personal account so I can submit a personal bank statement.

I also need to show other money in an account in [REDACTED] to show that the applicant is not solely dependent on income from the us enterprise [REDACTED]. This is usually other income from the home country (in my case it could be modeling)

To answer your question, I think it is right and no it doesn't mean we are not done. You only claimed that unconditional and continuous financial security was not the deal after it came to actually keeping your side of the agreement we had for 7 years. The fact that three years ago you changed your mind is convenient, but it doesn't simply negate all the other years of promises. For the record, I didn't walk out, I wanted a family with you. You pushed me out. You act as if honoring your financial commitment would affects you in any way. It is very hurtful that you continue to make a conscious decision to make my life more stressful and difficult simply to prove some point. It's ME. You were the one person I could trust since I was 18, I made decisions about my future and security based on your assurances and now all of the promises are forgotten and you do this...just because you can. It is such a betrayal of trust, I can't imagine what you are thinking... I gave you no reason not to treat me with kindness and making me jump through hoops is completely uncalled for. You talk about my 'ability' to 'make money'. What money? I can make five dollars sitting on the sidewalk, is that 'making money'? Your press didn't affect my ability to make MINIMAL income, it just ensured that whatever I do can never lead to substantial success. So what is it worth to live that life? That cap is not worth twice a salary, it's worth millions. I am not one of your incapable bimbos. I could have worthwhile career prospects, which I now can't pursue. Not only do I have to deal with people calling me a child molester which affects me greatly, but I am also unable to make money doing the things I enjoy, do well, and which would result in high earnings. There is a cap on my success forever and I even have to argue my point ...?

did you send me a response. ? I had asked what do you want. specifically. . you talked about evidence of money over living and money in [REDACTED] and documents . ? have you made any money,? has [REDACTED]? you believe that you don't have to work and earn money. your understanding is not rational , and contradicts emails for years. and you continue to ignore what i say and simply ask for more. I am not sure what it is you are asking for now. 100k , are we then done? do you think it is right for you to claim something , after walking out , that i have consistently said for years is not the deal. I thought you were unable to make money, as the reasons you gave me over and over were related to bad press. I can call later today, is this [REDACTED] revenue, ? other, why so much. ?
