This is the key I gave you yesterday: <http://www.yubico.com/>
I'm messing around with this program: <https://lastpass.com/>

LastPass is Yubikey compatible.

The problem with Yubikey is that there aren't enough software packages that work with it well.

You can use the Yubikey configuration software to make it simply spit out a static password which you could use as a long password instead of the one time password/password hash thing that it defaults to. The software is here: <http://www.yubico.com/products/services-software/personalization-tools/use/>

Also, Jeffrey, Megan, Reid, you're on this email thread together in case you need each other's email addresses.
