explained that in the first email...

> I've spent a lot of time in the past doing petty > things I thought were helpful but I learned that > neither one of us benefits from it. As a result you > are not any happier and I haven't done anything for > myself. Since I met you, my life revolves around > you, there is nothing else I have and it makes me > feel very uneasy. I feel that I have no security; > like Jean Luc says , all my eggs are in one basket.
> I don't like taking things from you. I want to be > able to support myself. You are the expert in that, > you don't believe in school; so how do I learn and
