financial systems are not zero sum at all,, the creation of a new co . issue shares and trade a few, adds great net worth increases Marx, Karl not groucho , would have said that the service ( read - labor ) that one can perform is the limiting factor, this goes out the window with the industrial revolution, out of orbit with comuters, and finally with the advent of derivatives, irrelevant.. I will order the book, I am around today if you guys want to talk on phone
