The general manager of [REDACTED] to ask about it. Someone sent them an email with links to some articles about me, the one with [REDACTED]. I was on the call as well..I may have misunderstood, but it sounded like he said there was an article on [REDACTED] and referencing that story. He could have been referring to an old [REDACTED] link the person may have emailed to them as well. We then called the [REDACTED] to discuss with them and answer any questions they may have. They are good with it on a personal level, but said they have to keep the best interest of the team in mind and the [REDACTED] who doesn't even want someone holding a beer in their hands while [REDACTED] doesn't think they will care what the truth really is, just what the perception is. They don't intend to [REDACTED] and are hoping they won't find out. We are going to try and confirm with [REDACTED] who sent the email, but we think its a girl [REDACTED] has had issues with in the past who is behind the blog. We think she's the one who also emailed [REDACTED].

We have been working with a web reputation company for me. Before when you googled "[REDACTED]" the first thing that came up was the blog which was saying nasty things [REDACTED]. They wanted to push that down in the list, so they needed to create content with that term to move to the top. Also, when you googled my name, the first thing that would come up was [REDACTED], so they are trying to push that down too.

[REDACTED] has asked that we hire a lawyer to go through the documents online and to basically write a statement saying they've [REDACTED]. [REDACTED] has a lawyer he uses in [REDACTED] he's going to have do this. He may want to speak with Jack if that's OK. We won't give the statement to anyone unless its necessary [REDACTED]. They just think its a good thing to have a third party professional statement since there is nothing out there from me or any statements denying my involvement.
