Sorry about that. I have spent the day chasing Scott Graff's gremlins. Water situation seems to be under control for now.

Ready to get things set up for Pop's garden. The greenhouse for tropicals is almost finished.

Steph has the melons at the seedling phase and ready to go in the ground. Chris still has a bit of work to go but with the trees arriving Tuesday, I'm not sure how much he will get done with it.

Would you like us to place the tree markers tomorrow and then you can take a ride around and adjust as necessary?
