When sputnik was announced , the West was caught flatfooted.

The same can now happen with Russia taking the lead in finance. Instead of competing with the west for nano tech, copying silicon valley, looking for start ups, playing catch up to Microsoft . apple google and the like, Russia can get out in front and leapfrog the global community by reinventing the financial system of the 21 st century,

Since banks were invented in the 1600s in venice, little has changed, and though technology has enabled a new speed paradigm , fundamentally it is still the same. As you know I helped craft the derivative markets in the states in the 70;s/ That was a prelude to a much more advanced disruptive securitization scheme that is now made possible by technology,

Russia is unique is its capability to execute on a grand vision. A new form of money, on a world wide basis, It is much larger than any single project envisioned by any govt. and at its core not really that difficult to bring to fruition.
