I know you are going to meet putin on the 20th, He is desperate to engage western investment in his country. He has tried to convince many of my friends to invest, I have his solution. He needs to securitize russian investment, that means that the govt takes the first loss . It is the only way to encourage serious people to invest I recognize that there are human rights issues that are at the forefront of your trip however, if it is helpful to you, I would be happy to meet with him sometime in june and explain the solution to his top priority, I think this would be good for your goals. exchange something he really wants. for something you want.
