what is your schedule.? I would appreciate you deciding on time involved with work, you have priority, your happiness is my first concern, and as i see that it is happening i am thrilled for you. it seems you have spent very little time, working, its ok, we will need to adjust your salary, hire others etc. . i am interviewing some when i return.

Other people should be compensated for doing the work that you have decided not to do. your compensation is way over a 100k, rich has details. . i will make a small reduction in your salary to 40k, a small reduction in the overall. and use it as a contribution to those that are actually doing the work, we can re adgust eitehr upward or downward as you decide how you will focus your time, I hope you are spending the time as you wrote on building a personal independence, and something of your own however i fear there is little progress in that area. I want to help. you are my family, you have disregarded almost every commintemtn you have made to work,, I have had to do many things myself. that you normally would have done. I will work with you, however, you should not ignore my requests for days, it is not fair,
