hi jeffrey,
..i've talked to garry cunny a few days ago to find out whats happening with the cabanas.., i've talked to him about a week ago before and he said nobody could go to the island for one week because of the bad weather.., anyway, he said that one cabana is ready to go for me, and they're going to finish the other cabanas this week.
so now we need you to see and choose what sample and colors would you like..so you have to be there.
i asked also garry about the library.. if those guys from france(?) did any work in there, and he said that nothing is done and he doesnt know when those guys will come, so i was thinking maybe if i dont start the cabanas, then starting painting the ceiling and after i'll be done with that then those guys can do the library in the office after removing the scaffolding,... it seems to take forever for those guys to come and do the work.
i dont know if you got back in new york.., but if yes maybe we can meet and talk about that.
thank you,
ion
