Dear friends,

I hope this note finds you happy and well and gearing up for a wonderful spring and summer. For those of you who don't already know, I wanted to take this opportunity to inform you that I am no longer working with The Ovarian Cancer Research Fund (OCRF). Both Dr. Peter Dottino and I, along with several other OCRF Board members have decided to move on to new philanthropic activities. Peter and I, along with Jamie Boris, the former CEO of OCRF are starting a dynamic new foundation, the WOMEN.org: Gynecologic Cancer Research and Survivorship Foundation. Details and information about the WOMEN.org will be sent to you soon and I hope that you will be as excited about this important new venture as I am.

I am no longer involved in Super Saturday and I wanted to make sure that you were not asked to buy tickets on my behalf. I have received several calls from friends who have been solicited for table purchases as well as garage sale raffle and goodie bag sponsors. I am so sorry that OCRF has reached to you regarding Super Saturday and caused any confusion. I did specifically ask them to not solicit my friends and colleagues but apparently they have done so regardless and for that I apologize.

I am so grateful to all of you for your support of my charitable work over the past 15 years and I look forward to working together with you again soon.

Xoxo

Faith
