

To: jeevacation@gmail.com[jeevacation@gmail.com]; jeffrey epstein[jeevacation@gmail.com]
From: Karina Shuliak
Sent: Wed 3/7/2012 2:56:02 PM
Subject: Re: Fwd: DAT info

Should I prepare for DAT?

On Mar 7, 2012 12:46 AM, "jeffrey epstein" <jeevacation@gmail.com> wrote:

Did you order the sample test

Sent from my iPad

Begin forwarded message:

From: [REDACTED]
Date: May 23, 2011 10:25:59 AM AST
To: Jeffrey Epstein <jeevacation@gmail.com>
Subject: DAT info

Re how long is the DAT course: The American Dental Association does not have a 'classroom' class...it is a tutorial that Karina would do on her own...they have sample tests....a Complete DAT Sample Test is available for purchase from www.ADA.org. Karina would study at her own pace. The last paragraph says the DAT program does not endorse any test preparation course ...please see below from the American Dental Association web site. This is page 17 of : Dental Admission Test (DAT) 2011 Program Guide.

Test Preparation Materials

The DAT preparation materials contain samples of the four tests used in the DAT and are available at www.ADA.org. These materials are available at no charge to examinees as a means of discovering possible areas of weakness in their comprehension of subjects covered on the test. They also enable examinees to become familiar with the types of materials included in the test, as well as the general format of the various parts of the test battery. A complete DAT Sample Test is available for purchase. The order form with current pricing (including tax and shipping/handling) is available at www.ADA.org.

A tutorial to familiarize you with the mechanics of taking the DAT is available at www.ADA.org. The tutorial includes a couple of sample DAT items, and provides the opportunity to become familiar with the basic steps involved in proceeding through the test. At the Prometric Test Center, you will also have an opportunity to become familiar with the workings of the computer by taking a brief optional tutorial before beginning the actual test.

Additionally, you may become familiar with the computer testing experience through Prometric's Test Drive. In 30 minutes, you will experience an overview of the testing experience you will encounter on the actual testing day.

During the overview, you may participate in:

- The scheduling and registration process
- The complete check-in process
- Introduction to test center staff and surroundings
- A live 15-minute sample test (generic test not a sample DAT) demonstrating the testing process
- Full preparation for the real test

Visit <http://www.prometric.com/TestDrive/default.htm> for further details and pricing.

There are no shortcuts to the process of learning, and these test preparation materials are not designed to provide you with an opportunity to bypass the extensive process of absorbing basic information through class participation and months of study.

The DAT Program does not endorse any test preparation courses and has no data on the content or efficacy of test preparation courses designed to prepare you to take the DAT. The DTS urges individuals considering participating in test preparation courses to review carefully the course materials to ensure that they reflect the current content of the DAT.

17