Jeffrey,

I have never seen Nick Lie and fumble through an installation like he has tried these past two weeks. My radar went up with his direct pricing to you, and not CC'ing me on these numbers. that's when he lost my trust. I personally thought the 3D projector he brought last month to demo, had a better 2D picture than the current one on the island, according to Nick, he said its the same projector minus 3D capability,. that my be true, but just not sure.

Nick told me last night that DPI would send a Tech to set up the projector at Nick's expense, if you feel you remain committed to keeping that piece,. It may be worth it, and see how a PRO sets the machine up,. plus I am concerned why the projector was out of focus when I first seen it for the first time, when you had the movie 127hours playing. I know that was a B grade DVD, but focus is focus.

Plus, I would like DPI's opinion of the wrinkled screen, and why Nick didn't flag that has a problem for focus, it just shows his lack of fine turning knowledge,.

just my thoughts,

thank you,

Larry
