Hello j epstein,

Your Google Order #942235507816253 with Google is currently on hold. An attempt to charge your [REDACTED] for $20.00 on Apr 2 failed. This may have occurred because of insufficient funds, or as a precautionary measure against fraud. You may see authorizations on your billing statement for a declined charge. Occasionally, the authorization for a charge may be approved, but the actual charge for the order declined. Contact the customer service department for [REDACTED] for help with resolving this payment issue.

If you'd still like to receive this order make sure to update your payment information in your Google Checkout account, rather than placing a new order. If you place a new order with updated payment information, any pending orders will resume automatically. If valid payment information isn't provided within 7 days, the order will be cancelled. Update your payment information at
