I was on a board with him and another guy, a physicist, who writes science fiction... whose name begins with a B too..Greg Benford .. we called them the "killer b's"... both would pontificate on everything under the sun...so we couldn't get much done.. Greg Bear is much nicer, which is good, but in my experience has a comment on most things, all of which he feels like an expert on.... he is smart I think and he is amusing and creative.. on the good side. He writes science fiction... but am not sure he can tell the difference between science fiction and science... just so you know...

Dear All:

I need to plan up your meals with the hotel and the lunch on Jeffrey's island therefore; I need make them aware of any food allergies, special dietary needs or constraints. Please let me know as soon as possible.

Thank you.

With warm regards,

Cecile
