Wow, they were on the open shelf all the time?! Thank you so much! I've searched my apt upside down trying to find them, probably after I took my luggage bags leaving to Moscow. It was easier to see them. I was getting crazy looking all over in the apt and in the house, even looked through my other luggage bags. That's really strange that all the time they were in an open place.

Of course - I will tell him first thing when I see him - I'm leaving at 6am to LSJ this Sunday). Or you think I'd better email him or call him now?

Leaving back to NY tmw morning, see you soon!!!! Kiss

When I went into your apartment to get the passport I went into the kitchen and saw the shoes you said were lost (Louboutins, patent black with open toe) in the open shelves right next to the kitchen entrance. I feel you should tell Jeffrey right away
