Hi Jeffrey!

Thank you very much for your email, I have checked the information on the kaplan's web site and that would be great to take their course I think, I really feel like I need to study, even though if it's going to be very hard, I want to do that. And I appreciate your help Jeffrey! The only thing is, NBDE part I and II are exams for international dentist who already have their foreign diploma and want to enroll for international dentists programs which some universities have, as NYU for example. Those who apply to dental school from the beginning need DAT, as they pass NBDE later during studying at dental school. So I think what I need is DAT.
How is Africa, by the way? Hope you'r having an interesting time their!
