Yes there is a glass plate which needs to be screwed in from the top dropping about an inch and a half hence you will not see it is there a center piece that still needs to be attached,, it looks like 8 ft., but that assumes there are no other pieces.. it looks like the center still is unfinished

*Good Morning,
Attached photos of Chandelier in relax room. Photos 81 - 83 have it at the height of 7' 5" from the ground, the remaining have it 8' from the ground, Please note that the pipe you can see was the length that originally was attached to the ceiling and there is a copper sleeve that will cover all of this.
Personally the 7'5" seems a little low
Please advise
Thank you
Warmest regards
