He's closed down all the businesses due to, I beleive lack of investment. Eric was working with Lappo Eilkann on Italian Inderpendent, Lappo's attention has not been focused on this project and Eric made the choice to move on. As far as investment in Eric or his business goes, i would not know what sum would be,

It would have to be conversation with Eric.

I would love to discuse this with Eric and you.

Much Love

Dear Annabelle,

It was wonderful to have you on the phone and hear your voice.

I'm sending you a note following up on our conversation yesterday about American Apparel.

I was speaking with friends in LA about the possibilities of working there, and they immediately, told me about American Apparel looking for a New Creative Director.

You know that I love American Apparel, and would love the chance to work with them.

It a brand that has such a Strong Product Identity, [especially in it's begging days].
I still have 10 pair left of there corduroy jeans that I bought in Sydney, it was an old stock, the last of there original cut, I think came home with 20 pair plus T-shirts, cut-off's corduroy jeans, all the original Cool Stuff.

I remember being in Paris, you called saying to come and meet a very good friend of your's Jeffery Epstein, we met at his place and he had spoken to me,-us about American Apparel.

He had a strong incite on the movements of the company, and ask if I would think of doing American Apparel.

I had just started working with Lapo,on his Italia-Independent line, so was totally hook in with that, and at the same time was beginning to look into the setting up of my own project .

I know it's a long shot, but maybe Jeffery would know the right person for me to contact, for The Creative Director position at American Apparel.

Annabelle, I would really appreciate if you could look into this for me.

And about moving to LA !!?.

No Problem !!!!.

I've also attached my CV below.

All The Best !!!!.

XXXX.

Eric.
