John O'Sullivan SummaryofPayments.xls

Dear Mr Epstein,

I just spoke to [REDACTED] and said that I'd drop you an email with the latest news. I heard from the Duchess a few times over the weekend, and she indicated that a payment directly to Columbia University for $59,932.80 to cover my student debts and a separate payment to me for $54,126 to pay back my own cash was acceptable to the Duke. The Duchess added that the Duke would like me to call Amanda Thirsk to let her know that I am now in a position to be able to accept PWC's offer, which I'll do tomorrow once she's back in the office.

To help the process along, I have prepared a simple payment summary based on the assumption that PWC will be paying 25% of the original $126,722 owed to me. I have included my bank account details and a link detailing how to make payments to Columbia University.

Please let me know if there is anything else you'd like me to send through to you at this point.

With my thanks and best wishes,

Johnny
