You could can attach it to any kind of speaker system you want.

A good "keyboard amp" would be http://www.samash.com/p/Roland_KC880_-49948882

You could have a custom speaker system depending on where you want to put the piano.

Its all about if you want it to be a portable, a permanent install and what you have in mind.

If you prefer, something like this maybe a better choice for you, if you want a self contained never have to tune again digital house piano.
