Jeffrey, may be you should see the doctor?? Are you already in Africa?
There is nothing you can do to help me plan my time more effectively, I have to think better myself.

Here is the situation with boards:

Columbia does not participate in ADEA application process for non-US trained dentists, it has it's own admission from April till May for January enrollment.
So I wonder is the goal for that program Columbia only, as it is the exception from the rules anyway, or we should consider other schools as well?

I've submitted it about about 2 hours ago, had to enter all the coursework for 4 years and also added professional experience, but I marked the field with the type as "other", not saying volunteered or paid, as I could do both, for example volunteering first and then started to get paid, but I could not mark "paid" and "volunteered" at the same time.
