Mr Epstein the main circuit breaker for the roll up shades are in the 6th floor fan room when you open the door immediately on the left side are two small breaker panels the panel on the right has the word shades written on the metal plate in faded marker i think it is breaker #10. If you have any problem finding the breaker you can call me at home. As for the cracked speaker in the Gym that you requested I tape because of distortion when you were working out , you did not discuss me replacing or repairing the speaker so i figured this task was given to some one else.
