Subject: Thank you so much for appointment!

I tell you everything in detail as it was.

I came to Dr. Victor before minute your call. I waited in the lobby when they will call me and came to the office in 15 minutes. I was put in an empty room in front of the mirror and I was waiting for someone else the next 20 minutes. Then came Dr. Victor told me that I had beautiful clothes, I'm cute, put his arm around my shoulders, told a nurse "one more month" and then left. It lasted no longer than one minute. He even didn't give me a chance to ask him any question, and the I have not seen him anymore... Nurse gave me a pregnancy test, which with I was done very quickly and I was waiting for in the cabinet. after another 30 minutes she came and told me that she will write another prescription, and Dr. Victor wants me to take 60 milligrams (before that I was taking 40 milligrams), but since there is not 60 milligrams, they prescribed me 20 so I took 3 tablets a day. This means that my package will finish in 10 days. then I have to call to the office, tell if its worked and probably come back. I asked whether there is a possibility that acne will come back again, and the nurse said, "I do not know," I asked why it happened and what should I do, and she said, "I do not know." She left and came back 15 minutes later with a prescription. I asked whether similar cases, that someone could not be cured, and she said "yes, you are not alone," said that sometimes you need to do again follow-up treatment after 2-3 months, and one patient was treated, even in 4 stages. I said that I am afraid that my skin will become dependent on this medication and I have to take it the rest of my life to maintain good condition, and she convinced me that this should not happen ... She gave me a tiny tube of gel for acne on the forehead until I will buy a new pack.

I left in 5:46...

That's it.

What do you think?

Thank you for appointment! And by the way, it was very nice to heard you!

Hugs,
