Will need to contact Central NM Power due to distance, power above ground to transformer at new Well site

Also looking into single phase to 3 phase conversion pump as another option, will forward both Please note will need to drill Well first to determine pump size attached map shows location of existing 3 phase power at Dakota Well, my initial response was way off in terms of distance taking into account topography it will be over 2 miles from existing 3 phase service to new well location.

do you still wish me to estimate cost to run 3 phase?
