...i told rich kahn that an approximately days of work would be: 3 days for studio and 4 days for one bedroom apts maybe 5 for biggest one, with two people working, me and michael, $300/day for each. i told him this is an approximate time of work..it might be less, i told him that we will do one apt then we would know precisely how long time it would take to do all. but then he said, that's the problem..that he wanted someone with $150/day not $300/day..that there is another contractor which is cheaper. besides he said he wants a firm price not an approximate.. and i couldn't give him a firm price.

i told same thing from the beginning about how long time it would take to do the studios and apts to sue when we went to check apts, and to sarah too.

besides i never took a regular paint job, except jen's apt..which it tooks kind of long time because jen was paying attention to all details so i had to work a lot.

i always did high end finishes so i cannot say exactly how long time it would take a paint job..i don't have experience in that. michael is better..he did a lot of painting.

sorry, it was like a misunderstanding..
..do we have any project to do soon?
thank you,
ion

i thought he said 2000 for a one bedroom and 1500 for studio, your numbers don't add up.

hi jeffrey,

..sorry for that painting job at 301 66th st...it wasn't that i didn't want to do it..it was just a misunderstanding or sarah and rich kahn were not synchronized..because rich kahn asked me firm price after i told already sarah how many days approximately it would take to do that and we arranged everything for starting painting monday. so then i told him approximately how many days it would take to do that..i couldn't give him a firm price for the entire project because i didn't know how many days exactly it would take to do all apts...he said he wanted someone to do it for $150 a day... he said there is another contractor who would do it for cheaper..

sorry anyway,..
i was wondering if its any project you want me to do soon.
thank you,
ion
