Hello great man... How you doing in this world of turmoil? Economies going from worse to worse, currency like pancakes.

By the way I read in a news paper of an interesting accident which took place in Tel Aviv. Between two of our cousins in blood, two people carrying the French nationality but originally are descendants from North Africa. Claude Isaac Khayat and Eric Roubi accidentally crashed and killed Miss Lee Zaitouni 25 years old, who died in hospital shortly after the accident. The two then travelled immediately to France.

The victim's family and friends formed a society named Lee Zaitouni to collect donations to assist in tracking and pressuring the accused in France. Recently after family of the victim travelled to France and officially filed a complaint. A Paris county court judge then pushed the case to Paris court being more knowledgeable in such cases. France refused to deport her two citizens because her constitution and legal system forbids extradition of her citizens to another country. Now Zaitouni lawyer is initiating a court case in France against the accused, accusing them of wrongful killing, running away from the accident scene, and leaving without assisting the injured lady who later died.

Quite interesting
