I called Dave yesterday and very softly questioned both his [REDACTED] days and flight training. He had a very snappy tone and was very condescending. His explanation for [REDACTED] days was that he was available to fly so therefore he should charge. He then said that he loses nothing by putting it out there to get paid as JEE can always say no. Regarding flight training he said that he was paid for these days in the past.

In my opinion for someone who has always had a very tacit demeanor I am concerned with his hostility.

Please advise
