Hi [REDACTED]
Hope you are doing well! Josh and I are very much looking forward to your BBQ party Saturday night!

I just got a call from my sister & she is coming to town (solo) for the weekend from MV. I would never want to impose on you, but was wondering if she could possibly joins us? I completely understand if it's too late to add guests and I am wrestling with even writing this for fear of putting you in an awkward position. Please be totally honest if having her accompany us is too late of an addition- I will completely understand & still love you to death!
