I am in the hospital with Lyn for more than an hour, but she can't wake up. They give her pain medication and it makes her very drowsy. She knows I am here, but can't open her eyes. When I talk to her she makes moves with her head only...doctor came by and told that tomorrow she will have a major test to see how it spread and after they will send her home for chemo therapy at outpatient clinic....I am waiting for Jojo to come back and will go back to the office, he needed to step out

Thank you,

Bella
