ha, we took away the Ipad FOR REAL during the week. He didn't touch it all last week...He can still watch TV, but maybe taking away the Ipad helps? I don't know! Maybe Ty just wants it back so bad he is trying harder? !!! We will see how he does this week..

Hi Lesley -

I wanted to brag about Ty. He has shown a tremendous change in school since we spoke. Not only is he focused in the classroom but his work product has improved as well. Today he wrote for 20 solid minutes on his beginning for this historical fiction story. It is a great start. He is taking it home to share with you. I think the talk you had and the checking of his work shows him 1. he could do it 2. he could do it well if he takes the time 3. the hard work pays off. He received two "caughtya" cash for his effort today. We also had a team meeting about him met about him today and I shared his success and new focus. I am going to continue to give him support in the classroom. Thanks so much.

Terri-Ann
