Dear Jeffrey,

I hope this message finds you well. I never had the pleasure of meeting you, but my brother Delon couldn't say enough great things about you and your guidance and mentorship. Given your experience in and knowledge of finance, I was hoping you could help advise me during the career shift for which I'm preparing myself. For the past year, I've been working in the Finance Division at Goldman Sachs, and I feel as though my growth has been stunted. I haven't been learning the skill sets that I believe will put me on the right track to having a successful career in finance, and I'm hoping to have the opportunity to make a productive change.

Although I'm open to almost any opportunity in which I'll be learning about investing, I would love to work in the venture capital or private equity space. I would very much appreciate any advice and assistance you could offer in helping me navigate this industry. Thank you so much for your time, and I look forward to speaking with you soon.

Best regards,

Brando
