Sorry, I do apologize.

Will do,

Hey there...I would always let merwin or janusz know when to expect something that you have ordered and are having shipped to them...just helpful when it comes to the house to know where it is to go...Perhaps when you place the order you should tell them right away or include them on the order or forward them the confirm email and let them know to watch for the product...then THEY can keep an eye open for it for YOU! ;) and they can let you know when it has arrived! (and maybe you were going to do this as the date of product arrival is closer?...but just thought I would mention) :)
