I do...Lyn always gives slight grief when we leave stuff like this around...she says if anything happens to it, the finger will be pointed at them (which is kinda true...who else do you point it at) It makes them feel better to not be responsible for stuff like this...

The [REDACTED] are in Florida at the moment and I don't want to leave this gift with the doorman or house keeper. [REDACTED] is wrapping the gift and will give to Rich to take back to the office today. Merwin, on Monday lets circle back to this to see who can go pick up the gift from the office and deliver to [REDACTED]...This will need to be handed directly to someone at the [REDACTED] home...whoever goes will need to actually go upstairs..we will organize on Monday
