I think we need to call the lock company. It is complicated and I don't think merwin can manage without a manual.

There seems to be a problem with privacy at the moment. I have been able to tell on a couple of occasions that someone has been in my place. I trust the guys in the building completely and know they would never do this. Also on some occasions some of the girls will just walk in without knocking first. This is not ok. I do not want my new code given out to anyone. If someone needs to get into my apartment, they can call me first.
