She is a lady about I guess about 40 ish, she dresses very,very, nice , tailored, nice dress choices, , I could tell she shps in the better stores, I would classify her as a more corporate type, very nice pleasant appearance, not a glamour girl but pleasant demenour, she is a classy lady, very smart, pleasant refined appearance, she does have an accent as you can hear, but I had no trouble understanding her, she has a strong vocabulary, She is real, nice, I spent about an hour with her in person and liked her very much!.

Was great speaking to Kim last night..wow, she is a rock star! I think she would find this job too trivial and told her so! I think she would find it fascinating and fun for the first month, but then she would realize she does not get to use ALL her abilities to their fullest potential...! Honestly, I think she would get bored. I liked her though and I will tell Jeffrey I spoke to her and let him know how interesting she is...sometimes he just likes to meet these kinds of people...She says she would ultimately like to work for someones Family Office and I think she is right on target with that thought. We couldnt get our Skype or Face Time to work unfortunately...did you meet her in person? What does she look like?

Hi [REDACTED], .. Thanks for the phone conversation last week, It was so great catching up with you, I know JE has been busy,, I was just thinking , (I know that is dangerous) LOL, if you think that it might be a possibility for the candidate that I presented, (would you want to do a Skype with her first), to see if you think JE would be OK her (before he does a skype with her directly),, I only ask as it is easier to keep the candidate interested and available (if I keep her in the loop).. She seems to have a lot of flexibility, which is good, and being independent would be a necessity, It also gives you a chance to get a feel before we possibly present her to JE,, just a thought,,
