A timeless holiday tradition returns this December! The internationally acclaimed Trans-Siberian Orchestra will perform their rock opera, The Christmas Attic, live for the first time during two electric shows at Prudential Center on Sunday, December 21 at 3:00 PM and 8:00 PM The Christmas Attic features one of the band's most popular songs, "Christmas Canon," and it is the only album of The Christmas Trilogy never to be performed live.

As a ROCKSTAR Subscriber you have the opportunity to purchase tickets before they go on sale to the general public by using promo code TSOVENUE starting Wednesday, September 10 at 10:00 AM. This offer ends Thursday, September 11 at 11:59 PM.

The production of The Christmas Attic begins on Christmas Eve, when a young girl's curiosity leads her to a night of mischief and magic. She decides to sneak up into the attic of her parents' home while she should be asleep and there discovers a magical doorway to the past in the form of a mysterious trunk filled with ornaments, toys, old records and bundles of handwritten letters. A startling discovery in one of the letters, leads to an unlikely adventure.
