Thanks! I try to always keep short and to the point!
I believe I did pay with Amex!
JE has not responded as of yet. He is with gates all day so it might not be until tomorrow when I hear from him.

that was a well written email..
did jee respond?

did we pay with amex - if so we may have some recourse on restocking fee..
thanks

Precor does not make an "arc trainer"
Cybex makes the arc trainer.

Precor makes an AMT 885 (Adaptive Motion Trainer)

<https://www.leisurefitness.com/Precor-AMT-885-with-Open-Stride-Adaptive-Motion-Trainer-P1554.aspx>

The Precor AMT 885 is a commercial grade machine. It is an elliptical, stepper, treadmill and spin bike all in one machine. It has a 19" touch screen console (you can swipe like you do an Iphone) You can get internet and TV (BUT, this must be hard wired, no wifi) You can incline. It lists for $11,995.00

Leisure Fitness has a 20% restocking fee. Return/Exchange must be done within 30 days. If we exchange the Precor you have now for the AMT they will work with you re the restocking fee. Once a machine is delivered it is now considered used and it voids the warranty.

The machine is huge! it is 29" wide, 48" tall and the max turning radius is 64". Merwin would need to make sure this machine can go up in the elevator and make any turns that are required. It is a 3 person job for delivery. Weighs 422 lbs. Leisure Fitness has one in stock.

Just FYI-Leisure Fitness does not carry Cybex. The Cybex "arc trainer" only has one motion where the AMT 885 has 4 motions.

Please advise what you would like to do.
