Credit is simply does not have a great credit as she has had some contract experience in backgrounds and have hit a rough patch, It is pretty common, As far as Yoga, That is just an interest of hers and I always ask people there interests,, That was something she thought about but for the right role that goes on the back burner.

No worries, I spoke to someone that I know, used to be the former hostess on private jets and has some admin experience, She has a nice way about her, she seems open minded ,loves to travel, fluent Spanish, has some French, etc, I'm thinking that I probably can have her come in next week to meet you, I think it could at least be a possible start, to find someone and who knows it might work out , I think if you meet her first to give her an overview and you can assess if you feel that she could be a possibility, I believe we would have to work around the credit issues, which we can talk about, the important thing is if you have some time Monday ,Tuesday or Wednesday , I think you should meet her and take it from there, I told her the complete background etc,, so there are no surprises, and with that said if she wants to come in regardless, then at least you are not wasting any initial time, I'm really trying very hard for you guys, At any rate let me know when you are free. And I can at least try to produce a candidate, I told her about the perks, high salary, possible apt etc, to make more attractive etc, Let me know if you are free and I will do what I can,

If the person is outstanding and does not speak French, that is ok!

Yes, I will get to work on it! 😊, the only question, that I have is (I know French is highly preferred), should I eliminate someone if they do not have it?
