No worries, In the interim, I have not stop looking for others, On the designer note, Gregory went today, he does show a very strong commitment and drive to succeed, hopefully he can do well on the project, I know he mentioned he juggled multiple really high end renovations, more in the range what Jeffery is looking for, so hopefully he will be able to showcase it for him, Fingers crossed.

Hi Lesley. When you have a time for Gregory to come back , then just let me know, no rush at all, also , in the interim. This came across my desk, so I elected to call her, you will note that earlier in her career she worked at Robert Stern, which is one of the more recognizable names out there, So I thought I would pass it along in case he would have an interest, as I never stop looking! 😊
