Subject: Apartments

Morning [REDACTED]

I just got an email from Jeffrey as the man staying in 10B has complained to him about the apartment. Most things are not in your control.

Just the following:

He said there was a burned out lightbulb. So if you can just test them everytime after you have cleaned.

He said when he tried to iron a shirt a stream of rust poured out the iron. A little strange because I have never seen rust on our sheets.

I know you already do tell me but just a reminder again to tell me whenever you notice something wrong.

I am also going to get into a habit of checking them after each person leaves.

Thank you
