Isn't it great to be living an active life with tons to do and fund things every day? We certainly are.

I even accidentally drilled a hole through our roof while installing new front yard speakers. Our roofer fixed it no charge.

I know you don't need any additional pressure on the new home project, but as soon as you have a time window for your party tell us.

We really want to be there to help you celebrate!

Among our issues is an expiring airline credit for which we will invent another trip if it won't work to see you. We will be there in any event.
