Hi Mariana...we have finally been successful in finding a center who can do an entire Dyslexia assessment on you this Sat. April 12th!! You will go to The Brain Resource Center Saturday morning (time of arrival to be determined). They have two locations in the city and it is possible you may start at one location and then during a break, hop in a cab to go to their other facility. Dr. Fallahpour is still hammering out the details for us. The location addresses are below. The phone number is [REDACTED]. The facility has been paid and you do not need to worry about any payment. Please try to get plenty of rest and bring a snack and water. I have been told the test is long and can be daunting...you will have breaks though of course...They are aware you are taking these tests in hopes of getting "Accommodation document ion" so you will be afforded extra time on any high stakes tests you may take in your future. I will get back to you on exact timing and start out location. Please confirm back to me~! thanks [REDACTED]
