

To: [REDACTED]
From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Sun 4/6/2014 12:19:21 PM
Subject: Re: [REDACTED]

Friday at 3:30 is fine for me. I will come then unless I hear otherwise.

Shutters would be just as much if not more. There is just no inexpensive way to cover those kind of windows. I will bring drapery fabric and see what we can do.

Thanks and see you soon.

Carol

Carol Tomassetti
FRAME Creations
18 Huntington Plaza
Shelton, CT 06484

[REDACTED]
www.framecreations.com

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Saturday, April 5, 2014 05:17 PM
To: carol@framecreations.com
Subject: Re: [REDACTED]

Ugh. You are right. I don't like that price tag at all for arched blinds. Drapes (depending on fabric) would be the least expensive way to go...? Are shutters less? Let's meet Friday and discuss all. ..and you can measure for shutter in my bathroom (and determine if it will even work). I have a [REDACTED] and can safely say I could be at house by 3:30 if that worked.

Sent from my iPhone

On Apr 5, 2014, at 4:49 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Hi,

I have pictures of the arched wood blind, but you are not going to like the price. They are around $1,500 each, basically they all need to be handmade. At that price you could to a shutter, or certainly drapes.

Let me know what you think. I am available Friday afternoon if you want me to come by. I do need to measure for the shutter in your bathroom, if you decide that is what you want.

Let me know what you think. Have a great weekend and I hope to see you on Friday.

Carol

Carol Tomassetti
FRAME Creations
18 Huntington Plaza
Shelton, CT 06484

<http://www.framecreations.com/>

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Saturday, April 5, 2014 03:10 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: [REDACTED]

HI Carol...might you have a sample of the arched blind? or pictures? did you need to come back out and check if a shutter is possible on the master bath window? I am working from home Wed. and Fri. this week if you wanted to get together ...would love pricing on the arched blinds too when you have the chance..
thanks, [REDACTED]

On Apr 3, 2014, at 9:05 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

Hi,

Sorry I didn't get back to you. I just got home from a long install day. Just the arch would be tilt only.
I will get back to you with a price tomorrow, as I need to call the manufacturer for a quote.

Yes, I think a shutter would be nicer in the bathroom. Was there a faucet in the way, however, I recall?

I will follow up with you tomorrow with more information. Thanks.

Carol

Carol Tomassetti
FRAME Creations
18 Huntington Plaza
Shelton, CT 06484

<http://www.framecreations.com/>

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Thursday, April 3, 2014 11:04 AM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: Re: [REDACTED]

Hi! great to know you do drapes...BUT, I kinda like the idea of the arched blind.
When you say the tilting is limited, does that mean all the slats are limited or just the ones in the arch area? Might you be able to give me a quote on the arched blinds for [REDACTED] room...?

and thank you for the quote on the shutter for our bathroom...I feel like that wall is such a focal point in our bathroom...in your expert opinion, what do you think works best there?

On Apr 2, 2014, at 8:30 PM, [REDACTED] wrote:

I do draperies, yes. That is what I would suggest. You can do a shutter. You can do an eyebrow window wood blind, but the tilting is limited. I have attached a spec. sheet for you to look at.

The cost for the shutter in your bathroom would be $577.50. I hope this helps.

Carol

Carol Tomassetti
FRAME Creations
18 Huntington Plaza
Shelton, CT 06484

[REDACTED]
<http://www.framecreations.com>

-----Original Message-----

From: [REDACTED]
Sent: Wednesday, April 2, 2014 06:55 PM
To: [REDACTED]
Subject: [REDACTED]

Do you do drapes? Maybe that for [REDACTED] room and line them with room darkening fabric? [REDACTED] Sent from my iPhone

<wood blind arches.jpg>