Hi ...and thank you for your email...I have passed along to Jeffrey and asking if/when he would be available for a call with you!

Welcome home.

Hi [REDACTED]

I've returned from my seven week round-the-world odyssey and am basically caught up with Email, shoveling snow and jet lag. I had the opportunity to visit communities we've served in Asia, Indonesia, the Middle East and Sri Lanka as well as meet with people in London. Second Response is entering a critical time now with a pressing need to hire two new staff members to join our team, including a PhD clinical director to oversee the studies we will soon undertake to authenticate our protocols.

While I was away, my staff sent out an update with the attached Annual Report from 2013.

I'd appreciate setting up that follow-up phone call with Jeffrey whenever he can take a few moments. My schedule is quite flexible in the next week or two and I'd like to connect sooner than later. Please let me know what might work for him. I also plan to be in New York next week if he'd be open for a face-to-face and happens to be in town.

Many thanks, as always, for your help.

Warm regards,

William
