Dear [REDACTED],

Thank you kindly for your email. It is very nice to meet you and thank you for the flight options.

Professor Summers is delighted to make the trip, one obligation we have that may not have gotten to you is that he has a speaking commitment in New York the evening of Wednesday, March 19th and it ends at 930pm that evening. He would not be able to leave New York until after that speaking commitment.

Please do let me know if we can take a flight after that event.

Dear Julie,

Very nice to meet you via email. I am forwarding you the email with the flight options for Mr Summers to choose from. The meetings will be scheduled at the suitable time on the morning on March 20th until the end of the working day. I will send you the return flight options in another email!

We have now confirmed with the governor of the Central Bank of Kazakhstan that Mr Summers will be meeting him on March 20th. As soon as the flights are booked, the transport and the accommodation will be arranged as well.

Regarding the visa, we will come back to you shortly!

Please let me know if there is anything else I can do for you.

All the best, [REDACTED]
