[REDACTED] is solid. You chose so well. I'll work something out for summer and the kids up there in your new big fancy house. They'll love it. And so will we. :) xo yes, ya'll could come stay in the new house! would be fantastic and less money and we could come up with things to do...including just playing in our front yard and having a BBQ!

there is and always will be stress in [REDACTED] life...he is a worrier by nature and needs to plan and think ahead...which is actually great (minus the stress part)

I think me bringing kids up there to party with Ike would be an ideal vacation. :)

Keep me updated on the house. I need to save money and am aware of how scary it is out there. Yikes. Deep breaths.

How's [REDACTED] managing the stress and how are YOU managing it?

thank you for this! sounds like I should read when I am at home!!
glad you are working hard...it will pay off...better to work hard than not that is for sure. I wish you well!! things are going fine and dandy here...busy...but i like that. [REDACTED] has winter break this week. lucky guy. I want a vacation so bad..we just booked atlantis for the family in aug. for 4 nights..something to look forward to...besides that, trying to save money. I would LOVE to vaca with you and the kids...jsut not sure I can swing it now...but maybe in the future!!

VACATION. :) I think a little trip with the kids together could be such a good time!
