I just told Steven which apartment he would be staying in and he mentioned it was the apartment that he stayed in last time. He said last time there was no heat. He said he didn't tell anyone because it was so late when he arrived. Do you know if the heat is working now? Sorry, don't want to sound ungrateful.

Any chance you have an apartment that one of the Dubins' staff member can use tomorrow night? We are worried about them staying outside of the city and getting stuck.

Thanks.
