unfortunately i must be in the city on Friday so you will have to handle it...

I am going to leave the soffit question up to you and your super judgement! I think it would like nice as you have suggested..

Outdoor grill found? please let me know so i stop worrying...thanks

Are you going to be around on Friday to go over rest of closets? Or do you want me to just do it

Family room crown-- We have it white now. The crown will be going over your black built ins. Should I build a soffit that the black built in will but up under. The soffit will be off white or grey (same color as the crown molding. The black cabinets will but up under soffit.

Done. Key is under the steps coming in from the garage. Bought two locks for the side and garage door. Calling stepping stones for the counters in master bath. Trying to get plumber back on Friday to do laundry and master and kitchen. No garentees.

I would like everything to be put in the last two weeks. It's very hard. But if you go out of sequence things can get damaged. We just have to fight through this final period. There will be bumps.
